

Mini-Workshop: Decolonizing Political Theologies in Conversation with James Sidaway

26 May 2023, 09.00 – 12.00 AM

Collegium Helveticum, Rudolf Wolfs Saal, Schmelzbergstrasse 25, 8092 Zürich

In this seminar, we discuss James Sidaway's forthcoming paper "Beyond the decolonial: Critical Muslim geographies" and bring it in conversation with political theologies from elsewhere – Buddhist, Hinduist and whatsoever ... geographies, anthropologies, histories.

09.00 – 09.15	Coffee and chat
09.15 – 10.45	«Beyond the decolonial: Critical Muslim geographies” James Sidaway (National University of Singapore) Discussants: Wahyu Kuncoro, ISEK (TBC), Rebecca Sauer, AOI, UZH, Christine Schenk, ISEK, UZH James will briefly present the main tenets of his paper to open the discussion: what are “critical Muslim geographies”? And how is his approach going “beyond the decolonial”? James’ input will be followed by comments from three discussants, then a public discussion.
10.45 – 11.00	Coffee break
11.00 – 12.00	“Decolonizing Political Theologies”: Lightning session In this lightning session, we assemble short interventions that discuss other political theologies beyond “Muslim geographies” and beyond “Europe” in a post- and/or de-colonial spirit.
12.30 – 13.30	Lunch

Interested to participate? Please register with Benedikt Korf at: benedikt.korf@geo.uzh.ch

Please indicate at registration if you wish to make a brief intervention at the lightning session.
